Barbara Lawler is Queensland Convenor, Network Activities and Connections, for 'Initiatives of Change' -- a global movement of people of diverse cultures and backgrounds committed to transforming society through changes in human motives and behaviour, starting with their own.

Barbara's work with Initiatives of Change has taken her to Europe, India, Indonesia, and Timor-Leste.

Barbara's journey with First Nations began in childhood in the Mitchelton Library street, where she grew up with the Davidson family – Donny, Georgina, and their seven children.

That was the beginning of her deep sense of love and connection with indigenous Australians, along with her brother, Ron Lawler, who worked productively with ATSIC.

Barbara is passionate about healing the wounds of history, truth-telling, and walking together with our First Nations people -- with the vision that an Australia at peace with itself will be a peace-making nation in the world.
